YELLOW BIRD'S BOY STOWAWAY RETURNS HOME

Father Greets Arthur Schreiber at Pier in New York.

SHEEPISH "HERO"
Flier Jean Assolant's American Bride Arrives in France.

By James L. Kilgallen, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Arthur Schreiber, the Portland, Maine, youth who stowed away on the French plane "Yellow Bird" on its dramatic flight across the Atlantic to Spain, was a sheepish "hero" when he arrived back home by boat today to be greeted by his father, Morris Schreiber, and a flock of reporters.

No Demonstration at Pier.

Young Arthur looked at his father as if he did not know what to expect—a warm welcome or a spanking. He appeared to be waiting to see which way the cat would hop, so to speak. But only for a few seconds.

"Oh, oh," said the father, rushing to him and breaking into an excited string of Yiddish.

It must have been all right because Arthur, replying English, said:

"I never expected to see you here, father. I'm glad to see you. How's mother?"

The meeting took place aboard the Leviathan. The elder Schreiber had gone down the bay on a revenue cutter to meet his son at quarantine.

There was no demonstration for young Schreiber at the pier where Safe Lightning Rods.

Hark to Gen. Dawes.

Mr. Ziegfeld's Brunettes.

By ARTHUR KRISBANE. (Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

MR. AND MRS. MURRY GUGGENHEIM, providing millions for children's free dental clinics, set a good example.

Nothing is more important to the health of children and the welfare of future generations than care of the teeth in youth.

Some dentists, incompetent, will say it is an outrage to ruin them by selling free dentistry.

More intelligence would tell them that the Guggenheim's intelligent philanthropy, teaching children the importance of caring for their teeth, bringing them up with teeth worth keeping, will provide for competent dentists 10 times as many paying patients as they ever had.

DESTRUCTION by lightning of the historic $1,000,000 convent of the Sacred Heart, near Montreal, calls attention to the importance of lightning rods properly constructed.

Thousands of buildings are equipped with lightning rods worth less, even dangerous.

Applied on a scientific basis, with the correct use and amount of copper, lightning rods can make buildings practically lightning proof.

GEN. DAWES startles even his friend, "Hell and Maria," by going everybody one better.

He says, "Nothing but water in the American Embassy in London. It is United States territory, therefore under the Volstead act."

Even Britshers invited to the embassy will drink the health of the king in water. They will consider that bad luck, but they are superstitious.

FLORENZ ZIEGFELD, whose name replaces that of "Little Rollo" as a household word, turns toward beauty as the faithful needle turns to the pole.

But hitherto he has pointed only to blind beauty.

NOW he announces "my first brunet star," Miss Ruby Keeler, is to be "glorified" at Ziegfeld's theater in Ziegfeld's new show beginning July 2.

If you are in New York, see Miss Ruby and study "the reaction" of gentlemen that have hitherto preferred blondes.

IFE in the Antarctic has made Commander Byrd and his companions realize blessings that we do not always appreciate.

Down there, in the long night, they are eagerly waiting to see the next sunrise, many weeks hence.

BOY DETECTIVE "GETS HIS MAN"

CLEVELAND, June 26.—(INS)—Young Harry Alexander, Jr., who brought about the capture of a man accused by the boy's father of assaulting him in an altercation over the collision of their cars, said today he did not want to be a detective.

"It's too dangerous," Harry, who is 13, told detectives. "I'd rather be an engineer."

Harry remembered the license number of his father's alleged assailant, who disappeared after the encounter a month ago. He saw a car bearing that number on the streets yesterday, and had police arrest the owner.

MAN ASPHYXIATED

Two Women Rescued After Sick Bed is Fired.

BOSTON, June 26.—(INS)—As a result of a barrage of lightning, thunder and rain, which left injured persons and property damage in its wake, the humidity and heat wave which has gripped the eastern section of Massachusetts, was broken today.

The meeting took place aboard the Leviathan. The elder Schreiber had gone down the bay on a revenue cutter to meet his son at quarantine.

A bolt of lightning set on fire the sick bed on which lay Mrs. Susan Newcomb, 89, of Wellesley. Mrs. Newcomb and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Farrington, who was seated at the bedside, were both stunned but were rescued from the fire.

There was near panic in an apartment house in Chelsea when the place was struck by lightning.

Approximately a half inch of rain fell, the deluge flooding streets.

Homes in several districts were in darkness when lightning tore down power wires.

Prior to the storm a Boston woman died, a victim of humidity, physicians said.

Thousands of motorists on the beaches saw fire ruin Nahant hotel at Little Nahant.

DAM NO. 9 CALLS REPAIR STEAMER

The government repair party No. 1, with the aid of the steamboat John F. Klein, which has been inspecting and repairing the lock gates and bear-traps at Dam No. 8 in the Ohio river, was called yesterday to Dam No. 9, New Cumberland, W. Va., to repair valves in the lock walls.

The stages at noon today at Dam No. 8 were 12 feet and 9 feet in the upper and lower pools, respectively.

The steamer Senator Cordill will arrive here tonight from Cincinnati en route to Pittsburgh.

The Transporter towed 19 barges of coal to Wheeling, W. Va., yesterday. The J. H. Hillman, with four barges of coal and two of scrap iron, passed here for Weirton, W. Va. The Old Reliable was enroute today to Weirton with one empty flat.

CENTRAL FIRE STATION RAZED

Razing of the Central fire station in St. Clair avenue and Broadway, to make room for the proposed new building, has been completed by Peter Milliron, who bought the structure. Milliron is now tearing down the street department garage, which adjoins the fire station site.

The street department has been moved to the old West End fire station, Lisbon street. The fire department is being housed temporarily in the old Standard pottery, Broadway.

Malcolm W. Thompson of the Hall China company is the receiver.

Man Burned in Gasoline Blast.

J. H. Freeman, 1701 Etruria street, was burned on the left hand at 11:30 today when a can of gasoline exploded in an up-stairs bedroom. The East End department responded to the alarm.

POTTERS START SEASHORE TREK ON SATURDAY

Secretary McGillivray Leads Vanguard to Convention.

DELEGATES MOTOR

Two-day Session of Officers Opens on Tuesday.

Vanguard of the delegates to the 39th annual convention of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will open in the Odd Fellows' hall, Atlantic City, N. J., July 5, will leave for the seashore on Saturday.

Secretary-Treasurer John D. McGillivray who with his family, will motor to the convention, will leave East Liverpool Saturday morning. President James M. Duffy will leave here by train Monday night, arriving in Atlantic City early Tuesday morning.

James Slavin, who retires as seventh vice president at this year's convention and who also plans to drive, will probably leave here Sunday.

Other western members of the executive board, including Second Vice President George Chadwick, of East Liverpool, and T. M. Woods, Sebring, will leave Monday.

Two-day session of the executive board will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, at which convention plans will be discussed. There will be no session on July 4. The convention will open Friday morning.

Joshua Chadwick, Newell, brother of Second Vice President George Chadwick, of this city, who was recently elected seventh vice president to succeed Slavin, will not attend the convention. He plans a fishing trip to Canada shortly after the Fourth of July.

Hugh Church, Perth Amboy, N. J., the other new member of the executive board, is expected to attend. The new members of the executive board will assume office on August 1.

MISS WILLS WINS AS COEN LOSES

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 26.—Miss Helen Wills skipped her way through the third round of the Wimbledon Tennis championships tournament today by defeating Mrs. Schomburgk, of Germany, 6-0, 6-0.

Discarding the bright yellow coat which was the cynosure of all eyes when she made her first appearance at Wimbledon yesterday, "Queen Helen" fairly riddled her opponent's undershirt service with sizzling drives and placements which had the German woman completely bewildered.

But while Miss Wills was winning with such great ease, another of the United States' men stars was being eliminated from further play.

Wilbur F. Coen, young Kansas City star, went down to defeat at the hands of C. Boussus, of France, by a score of 6-1, 10-8, 7-5.

DR. SNOOK CALLED "LADIES' MAN"

COLUMBUS, O., June 26.—(INS)—Hopes of Pittsburgh becoming the fourth largest city in the country, and third largest in the world in area were dashed today.

Counting of votes in the special election yesterday on the question of absorbing entire Allegheny county, showed that the metropolitan charter plan failed because of opposition in the boroughs and suburbs.

The measure would have ranked the city next to New York, Chicago and Philadelphia in population.

Ohioan Shot and Fined.

AKRON, O., June 26.—(INS)—Robert Lee, 22, who was hot by Patrolman Lynn Wittman when he refused to halt at the latter's command, was fined $25 and costs today on a suspicious person charge.

Postmaster Wood, Who Witnessed Windup Of British Election Fight, Returns to Desk

Greets Friends of Lloyd George and MacDonald.

His face tanned and having gained four pounds, Postmaster John T. Wood, completing a round trip to England, is back at his desk today.

He arrived in New York Friday afternoon on the steamship Berengaria, following a six-day voyage.

Among the Berengaria passengers were Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford and their two children.

Wood sailed from the same dock upon which Ambassador Dawes landed the same morning.

He reached England in time to witness the wind-up of the British election.

Visited in Manchester.

In Manchester he was the guest of friends of David Lloyd George and the Liberal party; at Oldham, where he also visited, his hosts were sup-

Bandit Kills Man Who Left Purse at Home

WAVERLY, O., June 26.—(INS)—The lives of a 28-year-old mother and her 18-month-old daughter were snuffed out in an automobile accident, near here, last night. Four other persons were injured.

The tragedy resulted when the car in which they were riding skidded from the towpath road, south of here.

Mrs. Goldie Hartley, and her small daughter, Catherine, were killed.

Those injured are Ira Brown, Bertha Truce, Marjorie Hartley and William Bodli. The car was driven by the dead woman's husband, Thurman, police said. He was not injured.

Panic Occurs in Church as Gunman Fires

CHICAGO, June 26.—(INS)—In our Lady of Sorrows church here today were thrown into a panic when a man having a gun dashed down the church aisle, fired wildly at the Rev. Father A. E. Keenan, wounded Richard J. Murphy, a communicant, and then turned the gun upon himself.

The man, later identified as Charles O. Foster, fell near the altar rail with a bullet wound in his head.

Men and women rushed toward the doors and some toward the altar. Others went to the sides of the two men who lay groaning.

Police removed the two wounded men to a hospital and services were continued.

Detectives said two whisky bottles were found in Foster's pockets.

Battered Head Found in River

GREENUP, Ky., June 26.—(INS)—Discovery of the battered head of a man along the Ohio river shore here, today had started a police investigation. Authorities declared the head may have been thrown into the stream from a houseboat. Other reports say the man is a drowning victim and that his head was severed from

C. W. Arnold Becomes New Rotary Leader

Succeeds F. L. Wells as President at Inter-city Meeting Here; County Clubs Send Delegations.

WELLSVILLE, O., June 26.—Frank L. Wells, an officer of the Perpetual Savings & Loan company here, who enjoys the distinction of having served two different Rotary clubs in the capacity of president, last night turned over the reins of the Wellsville club to C. W. Arnold, new chieftain of the local unit at an inter-city meeting in the Methodist Episcopal church.

Attending the ceremonies were 24 representatives of the East Liverpool club, three from Canton, including District Governor Joseph Markley and Joseph, Jr., his son, four from Columbiana and eight from Minerva as well as 22 members of the Wellsville club and its guests.

Arnold will take charge of his first meeting, as president, next Tuesday night.

Club Leaders Speak

Frank Patterson, new president of the Minerva Rotary club, offered felicitations to Wells, the retiring president of the Wellsville club, and wishes for success to President Arnold.

Attorney Homer Hammond, spokesman for the Columbiana club, paid high tribute to W. E. Wells of East Liverpool, as "the man best versed in the pottery business in the United States," and eulogized Attorney Blaine Cochrane, East Liverpool, the organizer of Rotary in Columbiana county for his activities in behalf of the crippled child movement.

Albert Froesch, head of the East Liverpool club, spoke briefly, congratulating Frank Wells, the retiring president, on his accomplishments for Rotary, and, in turn, introduced W. E. Wells who, in an impromptu talk, spoke of the benefits of Rotary, chief among which will be listed "the investment in friendship."

As Wellsville's contribution to the program the Rev. Don Young, secretary, presented the Log Cabin Harmony Four, colored quartet, which sang a number of popular selections, accompanied by Leonard Lyons, pianist.

Arnold, introduced by Wells, discussed prospects for the future, pledging untiring efforts that the second year's progress of the club be as successful as the first.

District Governor Guest

The principal address was given by Joseph Markley, Canton, retiring district governor.

Markley dwelt in his opening remarks on the organization of Rotary, its aims and accomplishments. He pointed out that nearly three decades ago a man conceived the idea of the association of business and professional men which later became a concrete achievement in the form of Rotary, now boasting a membership of 14,000, with 3,200 clubs functioning in 52 nations of the world.

"Was that idea originated in one man's brain?" he asked, "or was it planted there by a divine power so that there should be peace on earth, good will among men?"

"Rotary is a common meeting ground for all creeds, all nationalities, where the Catholic, the Protestant, the Jew, may meet together, where the American, the Greek, the Mohamadan can commune, where they can greet one another and say—my friend."

Markley emphasized that friendship is a priceless possession and defined a friend as "someone who knows all about you and still likes you."

Discussing business ethics and reminding his hearers that they should give 100 cents' value for every dollar, 16 ounces to the pound, 36 inches to the yard, and to "look beyond the fee," Markley characterized success as not a dollars-and-cents proposition but the ability to "make the world a little better than it was when we found it."

As the meeting ended, retiring President Wells announced that the Wellsville club was issuing a challenge to other county clubs for an inter-club golf tournament, suggesting that the respective presidents act as a committee to work out plans for the event.

L. C. B. A. SPONSORS PARTY, SOCIAL

Under auspices of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association of the Immaculate Conception church, a card party and social will be held tomorrow night in the school hall, Eleventh street.

COLUMBUS CLUB DROPS ANOTHER

Only two games were played in the American Association pennant race yesterday, leaving the standings unchanged, except for the fact that the Columbus Senators slipped down into the seventh berth.

In a game which bordered on the exciting several times, Kansas City strengthened their hold on first in drawing ahead of the Columbus aggregation by a 9 to 5 score. Columbus, as we declared, dropped into seventh place and Milwaukee, by virtue of nothingness, slid into the sixth position.

In the second game contested, Indianapolis rallied their demoralized forces and slipped a fast one over on Minneapolis. At the end of the nine inning tray, the Hoosiers were the victors by a 5 to 4 score. The Indiana team is fourth and Minneapolis is a weak second, being hard pushed by St. Paul.

Other standings are: Kansas City, first; St. Paul, third; Louisville, fifth; Milwaukee, sixth; Toledo, eighth and last.

Stomach Gas, Dizzy Spells And Backaches Vanish

"Owa-Ton-Na Real Opportunity for Discouraged Sufferers," Says Mrs. Flanagan.

When ill health come too often section of the right remedy is not given careful consideration. Nature has endowed man-kind with its delicate mechanism. Minute nerve ramification in important organs of the body can easily be deadened by harmful medicines thus interfering with the transmission of nature's warnings to the brain centers. The result is that destructive poisons continue their work in delicate organs as long as such remedies are used but upon their discontinuance, it is not long until the sufferer finds that their treatment has been of no avail. Thousands of sufferers have experienced this condition until finally they felt there was not any help for them.

Owa-Ton-Na proves itself exceptionally valuable in obstinate cases which do not seem to respond to treatment. Often times, relief in these cases is considered miraculous. It is not claimed that Owa-Ton-Na performs miracles; simply that it does what very few medicines do and that is to cleanse from the system harmful poisons which are causing disease. The surety with which nature's roots, herbs, barks and berries as compounded in this Indian formula, Owa-Ton-Na, act is daily being experienced by thousands of sufferers. They act not by doping and deadening but by stimulating normal functional activity which results in a natural elimination of disease. The laboratory representative who is daily explaining the merits of this fine old Indian Remedy, Owa-Ton-Na, to eager health seekers at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, has been thousand of gratifying cases and will be able to tell you about them and the merits of this remedy.

Of particular interest to similar sufferers is the case of Mrs. Media Flanagan, Jefferson street, Newell, W. Va., who has tried many remedies for the relief of her disorders with but very little result. She says: "It would be hard for me to say just how many different things I have tried since I have been ailing. It almost seems as though I had been taking medicines all my life. Terrible gas and bloating spells with which I suffered, sometimes made me feel that I couldn't bear them. Why, at times it seemed I couldn't get my breath. Food just lay in my stomach it seemed for hours and many nights I would toss about in bed without being able to sleep."

"My bowels have been constipated for years and my kidneys had not been functioning the way they should. Many nights I was forced to get up three or four times and the backaches with which I suffered made me feel as though my back would break. I would get so dizzy at times that I would have to sit down for fear of falling and this sensation had me scared as I didn't seem to know what caused it; and then I would get terrible headaches that almost drove me crazy. I heard so much about this fine old Indian Remedy, Owa-Ton-Na, and the good it had done for many of friends that I felt it would surely do some good for me. I certainly bless the day that I tried the first bottle. I never found anything equal to Owa-Ton-Na."

"Even the first bottle seemed to make all my stomach trouble disappear. No more gas, no more indigestion and my heart is acting normally. Where I used to be afraid to eat, I now eat anything I want and have a wonderful appetite. Not only did it correct my stomach troubles but my kidneys are acting normally. Backaches are a thing of the past and constipation which has always caused me so much trouble, is gone."

"Case after case reports similar good results from the use of this fine old Indian Remedy. You too, may find in Owa-Ton-Na just the remedy you have been looking for. A trial bottle will convince you and it is certainly worth that to anyone who is suffering. Call today at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 East Sixth street, and have a confidential talk with the special laboratory representative. This service is free and incurs no obligation."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Her So Much

Cleveland, Ohio.—"I sure recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman in the condition I was in. I was so weak and run-down that I could hardly stand up. I could not eat and was full of misery. A friend living on Arcade Avenue told me about this medicine and after taking ten bottles my weakness and nervousness are all gone. I feel like living again. I am still taking it until I feel strong like before. You may use this letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. ELIZABETH Toso, 1411 Hale Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

'CHURCH NIGHT' TO BE OBSERVED

Rev. John Fleming Will Preach Here Tonight.

NEWELL, W. Va., June 26.—The Rev. F. F. Freese, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, today announced that "Church Night" will be observed tomorrow night at the revival in charge of the Rev. John Fleming of Ashland, Ky.

The Rev. O. L. Benedum, pastor of the East Liverpool Nazarene church, and the Rev. Robert Andrews, pastor of the Chester Nazarene church, headed delegations of their congregations at the services last night. Freddie Thomas, known as the "Boy Preacher," was also present.

The Rev. Mr. Fleming's topic last night was "The Signs of Jesus Coming."

"People are falling away from the church or apostasy of the church. Church members are cooling off. They used to carry a burden for lost souls and go to meetings and shout their hats off and their hair down. Now they don't shout their hair down as it is gone and bobbed off. Altars are barren and church doors are closed."

"We are living in a selfish age and brotherly love is a rare thing. We are the proudest and haughtiest people of all ages. Women are proud of their clothes or rather lack of them. We are proud of what we have done and never thank God for His love. Children were never so hard to control. Children now tell their parents what to do. Billy Sunday said, "There is just as much government in the home today as ever, but it has changed hands."

"The average child of six knows more today than grandfather of 50 years ago. Knowledge is everywhere. Men are getting so wise that they think they know more than God. If 50 years ago you would have said a man could eat his breakfast in New York and take dinner in Los Angeles, people would have said you were crazy. My grandmother was more than three months in coming across the ocean. Not long ago a young man jumped into an airplane and in a little more than 30 hours landed in Paris. The highways are jammed and you travel at great risk."

Vacation Safety Commandments

The vacation season, already launched, will be in full swing within less than a week, for the exodus of East Liverpool vacationists usually begins on July 1. Already the Columbian County Council of Boy Scouts has opened its Eagleton Glen camp. The Y. M. C. A. camp, with 12-day periods set aside for both boys and girls, will be established on July 1, while Columbian Equires and Junior Catholic Daughters of America as well as clubs have arranged for summer outings. In addition, scores will visit the mountains, seashore and lakes.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy," and the expression is applicable to the adult as well as the boy or girl. Mother, father, son and daughter, employer and employee should rest for a week or more each year. A change of scenery is good for mental and physical fatigue.

Too many vacationists, however, take unnecessary risks, and often tragedy climaxes their holidays. This is the thought of the National Safety council in suggesting safety commandments for the summer vacation.

Here are ten things to do, or avoid doing, to lessen accidents during vacation time:

1. Learn to swim.
2. Drink only from inspected water supply sources.
3. Don't rock the boat.
4. Learn to recognize and avoid poison ivy and other dangerous growths.
5. In climbing trees or mountains be sure of your foothold.
6. Drive motor cars safely and sanely.
7. Watch out for tainted foods.
8. Learn first aid, and always have a kit nearby.
9. Formulate an individual safety code to fit your own vacation.
10. Remember it is better to be safe than sorry.

As the safety expert suggests, have a good time but don't spoil your vacation by avoidable accidents.

Resting

They are all at home now—all those young men and women who have spent the last nine months in the halls of learning and the autchambers of college fun. They are taking a long-awaited rest from the daily grind of lessons to be prepared, assignments to be looked up, papers to be written and all the whatnots of college training.

Many of them eliminated the rest period entirely from their program and sought employment immediately. You can see them early in the morning starting to work on their summer jobs. One of them, a fine upstanding young giant of 20 years, started just the other morning on an ice wagon. It was going to be a spectacular emulation of the justly famous Red Grange. His first official action was to swing a 70-pound cake of ice high into the air and let it drop upon his toe. The summer's work had started for him.

And the girls? Do they sit and twine their fingers in gensive idleness far away from their campus heroes? Not in the twentieth century. They are in the city's department stores, in the business offices, on playground duties, at girls' camps, in newspaper offices—any place where there is work to be done that can be stopped when the time comes for a return to school.

They are a fine crowd of young people, these young men and women who are going to be the leading citizens of tomorrow. Every person has one of two ideas about the younger generation. It is always better or worse than the previous one. It is easier to take the side of the optimist and there is certainly every indication that matters will be left in capable hands when we shuffle off the mortal coil, worn down by toil and greased with oil as Harry Sinclair might condescend to put it.

True, there is the brawny athlete whose only summer duty will be throwing out his chest and swelling his biceps for the benefit of all and sundry. There will be the young ladies who will find it difficult to lift anything heavier than a tea cup or a bouquet of flowers, but all in all there are not as many of them as there were in other days.

By Hydro-Electric Power

Announcement is made of the electrification of the entire mileage of the government-owned railways of Switzerland with a resultant cutting of the cost of operation, to say nothing of the freedom from cinders and smoke achieved, a matter of decided importance to travelers in the mountain republic.

The cost saving has been effected in two ways: through the substitution of hydro-electric power for the operation of locomotives by coal, and in the reduction in the operating labor cost, fewer men being required to operate the electric system than the steam generated by the use of coal. It is pointed out that in 1913, when travel was much lighter than at present, the number of operating employees of the government-owned line was 8,886 and they worked from ten to ten and a half hours a day. Now, with traffic very heavy, the same lines, with some extensions, are operated by 8,616 employees, working eight hours a day.

Little Switzerland is particularly fortunate in hydraulic resources. So many are her snowcapped mountains, so many her glaciers and the mountain torrents running therefrom, that experts estimate her hydraulic resources at 20,000,000,000 kilowatt hours, which, if utilized, would average 8,000,000 horsepower. Little wonder that the Swiss government resorted to hydro-electric power to avoid the high prices exacted for coal during and since the World War.

What a simplification of the worries of American railway managements there would be were hydro-electric power available throughout the length and breadth of this land as it is throughout the Alpine valleys of Switzerland!

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26—Two outstanding effects of the wide popular distribution of radio receiving sets among the American population will be that in a few years the average resident of the United States will have his knowledge of musical compositions multiplied many times and that hitherto unknown musical composition will be made known literally by the thousand. What the effect on fresh productions will be is something startling to conjecture.

Demand always has the faculty of creating supply. The demand for musical compositions for radio use is something prodigious, something incomprehensible only a few years ago. Already the effect has been amazing, but as the demand constantly is increasing, still more amazing results may be expected.

When the broadcasting of musical compositions by radio started, the popular songs of the day sufficed. As the networks grew and the number of receiving sets increased, the classics, that is the classics already known to music lovers, were drawn upon and introduced for the first time to millions of persons.

Look at the matter from the producers' point of view. Right now one of the broadcasting systems must put on a program of four thousand separate numbers each week. And there are more than one broadcasting system. Further, most receiving sets are capable of picking up the productions of each. Therefore, it is obvious that the arranger of four thousand separate numbers a week is hard put to it to avoid repetition.

Relief is ready, however. There are so many musical compositions in the world that it is probable that a broadcasting station could readily compile a program for a solid decade without once repeating a number. The section of the musical world devoting its attention to radio now is business engaged in preparing the material.

Composers of music have shared the fate of many writers of both prose and poetry. They have achieved fame because of one or only a very few productions. Every school pupil knows about Coleridge's Rime of the Ancient Mariner but fewer number know that he wrote a 1000 page volume solidly printed with poems. Gray wrote much besides Gray's Elegy and much that was very good, too, but who, in the main, has ever heard of it? Similarly, the composers have written in the aggregate hundreds of thousands of excellent musical compositions but have achieved renown through one or a dozen. For example, von Cappel's military march, Light Cavalry, is heard everywhere. But the fact that that wrote more than 70 whole operas seems to be a dead secret. Each one of the 70 operas would fill an evening.

Scarcely any composer of note wrote less than a thousand compositions; some wrote many thousands. For a composer to write 50 or even 100 full operas in his lifetime was not unusual. Michael Balfe, the great Irish composer whose Bohemian Girl is among the most widely known of operas, wrote more than 50 and only a musician of a semi-antiquarian turn of mind can mention a single one but that. The cantatas, oratories, symphonies, operettas, quartets, duos, serenades and simple songs are like the leaves of the forest.

Obviously, it will take time to prepare new copies of the old works dug up and also for singers and instrumentalists to learn them, but the deluge has begun and may be counted on to increase in volume week by week. It is wholly conceivable that composers whose names are scarcely known at all will be the famous ones of the future despite the fact that they may have been dead for a century or two. Their works will find their first public expression over the radio.

Sir Arthur Sullivan is known to millions of people as the composer, with W. S. Gilbert, of the Gilbert and Sullivan light and comic operas such as the Mikado, Pinafore, etc. But it is not so widely known that he was the composer of a vast amount of sacred music including Onward Christian Soldiers. His hymns are being re-incarnated.

Q. What is the seating capacity of Drury Lane theater and of Covent Garden? T. W. L.

A. The seating capacity of the Drury Lane theatre as remodeled in 1922 is 2300. There are three tiers above the ground level. The seating capacity of Covent Garden is 2000. There are four tiers of boxes.

Q. Where is the largest flour mill in the world? J. N. N.

A. It is in Buffalo, New York—the Washburn-Crosby plants with a capacity of 20,000 barrels a day.

Q. How many ex Presidents of France are living? D. D.

A. There are four—Feuillace, Millerand, Loubet, and Fallières.

Q. How old is the student exchange idea among universities of the world? D. V. W.

A. One of the first records we have of this custom dated 1343, at which time a home was established at Bolonga for the Spanish students attending university there. It was a common custom during the fourteenth, fifteenth, and sixteenth centuries for all of the larger countries to establish residences in Rome for their respective students.

Q. Can anything be added to gasoline to improve it? H. A. G.

A. Something can be added to gasoline which will increase the ability to stand high compression. The chief constituent added is tetra-ethyl lead which is the poison of ethyl gas. The pure substance is not sold to the general public because it is very poisonous, and can be handled without danger only under certain conditions.

Q. In what denominations above $100 did the Confederate states issue paper money? W. O. C.

A. The denominations of Confederate notes above $100 were $500 and $1000.

Q. What is meant by Samvat? M. H. P.

A. Samvat is an abbreviation of the Sanskrit word, Samvatsara, which means year. Samvat is the method of reckoning time used generally in India, save in Bengal. Christian time is reduced to Samvat by adding 57 to the Christian year.

What Do You Know About Religion?

There are almost two billion people in the world. Religion is one of the powerful, controlling factors in the lives of many of them. What are their religions? More than one-fourth are Christians. There are more than 200 Christian denominations in the United States. How many people belong to each? How many churches has each?

These and hundreds of other questions about religion are answered in a booklet prepared for distribution to readers of this newspaper. This 48-page publication, called "Religions of the World," will be mailed to any reader on receipt of ten cents.

MOTION PICTURE PRODUCTIONS — and — LOCAL THINGS THEATRICAL

This Maurice Chevalier, popularly termed "the Al Jolson of France," is going to "hand" theatre goers a pleasant surprise.

His first Paramount Picture is "The Innocents of Paris."

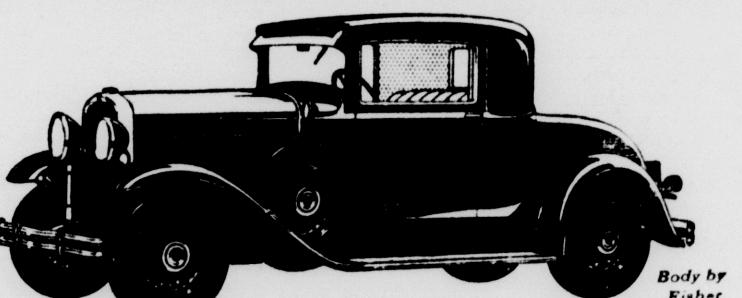

We saw "Alibi" and we'll tell the "cock-eyed world" it has plenty of suspense.

In the local advertising pertaining to "Alibi" you will note very little stress will be brought to play regarding the cast—it's Roland West's direction—and the story that counts most in this—Chester Morris (a new screen face) has an important role—how that boy can register.

"King of Kings" here before long, at let live prices.

MISS JANE IRWIN IS HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON FOR HOUSE GUEST

HONORING HER HOUSE GUEST, Miss Kathryn Childs of Redbank, N. J., Miss Jane Irwin of Ohio avenue, East End, entertained with a 1 o'clock luncheon yesterday afternoon at Quaker Inn, Salem. The tables, at which covers were arranged for 34, were decorated with garden flowers and tapers.

Bridge was the diversion. Honors were awarded Miss Helen Allison and Miss Frances Slumers. A gift was presented the honor guest, and Miss Alice Stevenson, a bride-elect.

Miss Childs of Redbank, N. J., and Miss Helen Moore of Sunbury, Pa., were out-of-town guests.

Mrs. Lillian Derringer Hostess.

Mrs. Lillian Derringer entertained members of the Ceramic club in her home, Globe street, last night, when four tables of 500 were in play. Honors were awarded Mesdames Olive Morgan and Iona Wilson.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Bertha Jackson.

Mesdames Edna Calhoun and Lillian Miller were guests.

The next meeting will be held July 9, in the home of Mrs. Mary McCoy, Pennsylvania avenue, East End.

PICTURE PATTERN

TIERS IMPORTANT

THE STYLE No. 2797 adds graceful width and movement by tiers, with hips slenderly fitted by wide girdle caught at center-front with buckle, in stunning crepe silk frock of capucine in light, medium and dark tones. The youthful collar and flared cuffs of white silk crepe have scalloped edge in deepest tone of print.
It will be difficult to make a better choice for street and general daytime occasions, for it is a favorite with the chic Parisienne. Plain silk crepe, georgette crepe, chiffon, rayon printed voile, printed dimity, and printed cotton foulard also appropriate.

THE PATTERN in Picture Chart will help you decide everything explained in pictures, showing how each seam is joined. You'll be surprised at the short time it will take you to finish this smart dress ready to wear.
It is designed in sizes 16, 18 years,
36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

In ordering pattern clip the design shown or order by number, and be sure to specify the size you want.
Write your name and address plainly, enclosing 15 cents and mail to Fashion
Department, East Liverpool Review.
From 7 to 10 days are required for delivery of patterns.

NEW FASHION BOOK containing all the Spring styles is 15 cents, but may be obtained for 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

The Toonerville Trolley That Meets all the Trains

ON PAYMENT OF ONE MEDIUM SIZED FISH THE SKIFFER WILL TOW A SKIFF THE FULL TWO MILES THAT THE CAR TRACKS FOLLOW THE SHORE OF GOOSE CRICK.

Elmer Cistub of Carrollton, was a local business visitor Monday. Fred Ralston of Mechanicstown, was a local visitor Monday.

Miss Virginia James is ill at her home in the Monroeville road.

Howard Randolph, who is employed at Canton, was a home visitor Tuesday.

So she rubbed and she scrubbed the blankets but she couldn't get the clothes clean. No wonder the water was hard. Instead of white fluffy suds, there was a dirty curdle in the water. Scum. It got into the fabric. Who wants dirty gray blankets?

She should have washed them in soft water. The hardest city water can be made soft by adding Melo. And what a fine cleaner this water is, with or without soap! How much more effective the soap is! Try Melo in the next washing. Get it today at your grocer's.

BEAUTY CARE for their hands right in the dishpan

Famous beauty shops all over the country—on the basis of their vast experience—find "hands that wash dishes in Lux are as lovely, as white and young-looking, as hands of leisure."

BRIDES tell us... clever wives everywhere say... "We have found a wonderful new beauty secret right in our dishpans!"

As 97 out of every 100 recent brides questioned in 11 big cities explained it—

"In spite of housework, we mean to keep our hands lovely and smooth and white—with Lux in the dishpan."

Women themselves discovered this new, inexpensive way of keeping their hands beautifully cared-for... Washing their fine things in Lux, they noticed how smooth and white their hands looked afterward... then they tried Lux in the dishpan—to get this beauty care three times a day!

Now 305 famous beauty shops add their expert testimony to women's experience—say—

"With all our experience we cannot distinguish between hands that never wash dishes and hands that wash dishes with Lux... Lux in the dishpan gives real beauty care."

Start today giving your hands this exciting, new kind of beauty care! It's so inexpensive, too! Lux for all your dishes costs less than 1¢ a day!

HAWKES PLANS NON-STOP HOP TO LOS ANGELES

Flier Expects to Make Return Flight to East.

36-HOUR VOYAGE

He Will Follow Great
Circle in Both Directions.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 26.—(INS)—Frank M. Hawkes, who completed a non-stop flight from East St. Louis to Roosevelt Field late yesterday in six and one-half hours in a Lockheed Air Express plane, plans to take off at 4 a. m. tomorrow on a non-stop trans-continental flight to Los Angeles, and then to make the return trip here again.

His plane is the Texaco No. 5, the same with which he established the present west-to-east trans-continental record of 18 hours 22 minutes last February. He is accompanied by Peter Clausen, his mechanic.

Hawkes said that when he arrives in Los Angeles he expects to have his tanks refilled and the ship checked, and then start back immediately for New York without getting any sleep. He hopes to make the round trip in 36 hours, he said. He will follow the Great Circle course across the country in both directions.

The present east to west record is 24 hours and 50 minutes, made by the late C. B. Collyer and the late Harry Tucker.

Eddie Nirmaier Hops

MIAMI, Fla., June 26.—(INS)—The airplane "Miami Maid," piloted by Eddie Nirmaier and carrying L. C. McCarty as a passenger, hopped off from here at 3:20 a. m. today on a non-stop flight to New York. The plane was sighted passing over West Palm Beach at 4:00 a. m.

Australian Fliers Land at Derby
LONDON, June 26.—(INS)—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and three companions completed the first leg of their flight from Sydney, Australia to England, by landing at Derby, Australia, after a 22-hour flight from Sydney, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch received from Derby today.

The flight was made without incident in the famous trimotor mono plane "Southern Cross." Derby is about 2,000 miles to the northwest of Sydney. Between are huge stretches of wild country, mountain ranges and deserts. Kingsford-Smith and his companions recently were missing for about 14 days when their plane was forced down in the wild bush land of New South Wales.

"Miss Minneapolis" Aloft 76 Hours.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 26.—(INS)—Owen L. Haughland and Charles Johnson, co-pilots of the "Miss Minneapolis," seeking to establish a new endurance record in the air, passed their seventy-sixth hour of continuous flying today.

"Miss Cleveland" Seeks Record.
CLEVELAND, June 26.—(INS)—The Stinson-Detroit monoplane, "Miss Cleveland," in which two Cleveland pilots will endeavor to break the world's endurance flight record, was given final inspection to-day.

At 6 o'clock tonight Pilots Byron K. Newcomb and R. L. Mitchell will take off in the monoplane, hoping to shatter the record of 172 hours, 32 minutes, 1 second, set recently by Reginald Robbins and James Kelly at Fort Worth, Texas.

PLUNGER NABBED IN MARLOW DEATH

NEW YORK, June 26.—"Boston Louie" (Edward L.) Lewis, of Boston, who played and lost on a race track tip furnished by Frankie Marlow, Broadway's big game racketeer, today was held in $50,000 bail as a material witness in connection with the slaying of Marlow.

Bail was set by County Judge Frank F. Adel in Queens county court, Long Island City.

Albanian King Seriously Ill.
VIENNA, June 26.—(INS)—King Zog of Albania is again seriously ill according to reports from Tirana to-day.

The trouble is variously described as a gripe and a recurrence of a stomach ailment laid to an alleged attempt to poison the monarch some time ago.

Stowaway Returns

Leviathan docked. The father said they would leave at once for Portland.

Touching Scene On Liner.
HAVRE, France, June 26.—(INS)—With the trans-Atlantic airplane "Yellow Bird" circling overhead and dropping flowers, Mme. Jean Assolant, formerly Pauline Parker, American show girl, arrived here today aboard the liner Le France.

Mr. Assolant was met by her husband, whom she married a few days before he took off with Armenio Lotti, Jr. and Rene Lefevre in the "Yellow Bird" from Old Orchard, Maine, on a trans-Atlantic flight that ended at Coruña, Spain.

Lotti was also on hand when the couple was re-united, and acted as interpreter. Assolant speaks only a few words of English, and his bride is equally deficient in knowledge of French.

A touching scene was enacted on the liner's deck when the flier clasped his bride in his arms as the plane which brought him lasting fame flew overhead, piloted by Assolant's lifelong friend, Major Weiss of Le Bourget airfield.

Through lanes of cheering people, Assolant and his bride were driven to the Havre city hall for an official

MUTE RECOVERS SPEECH IN AIR

BOY MOTORIST BURNS TO DEATH

Fatality and $10,000 Property Damage Fol- lows Crash.

BOWLING GREEN, O., June 26.—(INS)—Kenneth Underwood, 16-year-old Weston youth, was burned to death early today when the car in which he was riding struck a disabled truck, which had been wrecked in another accident three hours prior to the fatal crash.

The car in which Underwood was a passenger immediately caught fire and the flames spread to the truck, which was heavily loaded with oil and paint. Loss of more than $10,000 was incurred.

J. T. Damron, Detroit, was driver of the truck, which had been leased from C. S. Hall, Detroit, by the Great Central Transport company, of the Michigan city. Hall was riding in the truck.

Harlan Perry, Bowling Green youth, driving a large sedan, crashed into the rear of the truck about midnight. The rear end of the transport and Perry's automobile were badly wrecked.

All three were bruised. It was just three hours later that the car in which Underwood was riding collided with the derelict. A cousin of Underwood, whose name was not learned, was driving the "death" car. He made heroic efforts to rescue Underwood and was burned in the attempt when he rushed back to the car after being thrown clear by the impact.

The two were returning from a Toledo visit.

ELKS WILL HEAR CLYDE OSBORNE

Clyde Osborne, Youngstown attorney, will speak on "Fraternality" and discuss the Elks' Country club project near Milton's dam, at a special meeting of East Liverpool lodge, No. 258, B. P. O. Elks, in the Elks' temple at 8 o'clock tonight. Lunch will be served.

SOFTER WAR DEBT TERMS UNLIKELY

WASHINGTON, June 26.—(INS)—European hopes for softer war debt terms from the United States are kindled now that the reparations controversy has been settled on a new basis—doomed to disappointment.

Nothing has occurred, either in the Paris conference or in yesterday's talk between President Hoover and J. P. Morgan and Owen D. Young, which calls for any alteration of the fixed American policy with regard to the allied debts, it was stated officially today.

It really is a prosperous country. And bear in mind that high wages make it prosperous.

ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOL-

LARS cannot excite Uncle Sam much one way or the other. But it turns out that he will probably have a surplus of $200,000,000 instead of $100,000,000 when Mr. Mellon counts up his income tax receipts.

Winston Man Worked Only Part Time Before Taking
"Orange Root" Says

B. C. Opper Says His System Was Chock Full of Rheumatism and Neuritis and Body Ached All Over—
Weak Kidneys Also Made Life Miserable
For Him.

Bottles of "ORANGE ROOT" Relieved Him Of All His Aches and Pains, Restored Normal Kidney Action
And Built Up His Whole System.

B. C. Opper of Main street, had tried all kinds of medicines but without one bit of results. A last ORANGE ROOT was recommended to me, and I decided I would try it. Imagine my surprise when I noticed results from the first bottle. I have now taken 5 bottles and cannot praise ORANGE ROOT high enough. The golden Nuggets are wonderful laxatives and liver regulators and keep me free of dizzy spells and sluggishness. I feel like a new man altogether, am working every day, and am glad to tell the public of the wonderful results I obtained from ORANGE ROOT. ORANGE ROOT is the REAL THING, as it contains pure IRON combined with Nux Vomica, Celeri, Golden Seal and a host of other valuable building and blood purifying herbs. Go at once to MATTHEWS MEDICINE STORE, get 3 or 4 bottles of it and a box of the golden Nuggets, take them regularly for a few days, and the results will also surprise and delight you. ORANGE ROOT makes the weak and run down STRONG and VIGOROUS. Take it TODAY and GET WELL. Prices: TONIC $1.25, Nuggets 50c. All good drug stores in nearby towns stock and sell great quantities of these nationally famous medicines.

ROGERS VOTES VILLAGE LIGHT
PLANT BONDS, BUT ABANDONS PLAN

Money Draws Interest
For County as Utility
Company Erects Poles
And Wires.

LISBON, O., June 26.—Last fall the village of Rogers voted a bond issue of $8,500 for a lighting plant. About $1,000 was collected from taxpayers last December, but since the proposed plan of a village plant has been abandoned the money cannot be used. Neither can it be refunded. The fund is now held by County Treasurer Fred George, and the county is drawing interest on it.

A utility company has been erecting poles and wires in Rogers, and within a few days the village will be furnished with electricity, both for street lighting and domestic purposes.

FEES DISPUTE
GOES TO COURT

Common pleas court has ruled that Hanna Leinfinger, administratrix of the estate of Walter O. Radkey, is entitled to certain papers in the hands of Attorney K. L. Cobourn of Salem as soon as counsel fees have been paid.

The court also ordered Cobourn to file an application in probate court for determination of the fees.

Probate Judge Riddle will determine the issue at 10 o'clock Friday morning, and in common pleas court the case has been passed until July 8.

RULINGS MADE IN TWO CASES

Judgment by default in favor of the plaintiff for $696 has been entered in common pleas court in the foreclosure case of Clara McCay against J. R. Saxton and others.

The appraisal has been set aside in the case of the Peoples Savings & Loan Company against Raymond H. Shive.

Leave to the defendant to answer at once has been granted in the case of Russell Skorupski against the Alt-house-Brown Motor Company, an action for the performance of a contract.

Court Rules on Cowan Will.
A jury in common pleas court has determined that the will filed in probate court following the death of James S. Cowan was his last testament. To determine this issue, suit was entered by John S. Bevan against Alva Mac Bevan and others.

C. S. Ward's Mortgage First Lien.
In the case of L. M. Kyes against J. C. Hoffstot and others, common pleas court has determined that it is due C. S. Ward $1,000 on his mortgage, and that this is the first lien.

The judgment of J. W. and Edward Bretz has been determined in the second lien.

W. C. Clark Will Resigned.
W. C. Clark, assistant county school superintendent, will tender his resignation at the next meeting of the county board of education. He has accepted a position in the Shaker Heights school.

Court Sued in Auto Accident.

A suit to recover $2,500 damages has been filed against the county commissioners by Laurence Endres, of Salem, whose sedan went over an embankment near a small bridge at Valley on the North Georgetown-Valley-Salem road at 8:30 o'clock last Sept. 2. Endres claims that his car was worth $500 and that he spent $10 for medical attention.

Divorce Action Dismissed.

The divorce action filed by Laura Lisk against her husband, George Lisk, last March 28 has been dismissed by Judge W. F. Lones on motion of the plaintiff.

Leetonia

The resignation of P. Rauch from the village council when he went to Youngstown necessitated the appointment of some one to finish out his unexpired term. Mayor D. H. Schaefer appointed Myron C. Hileman. This appointment was confirmed by the council.

At the Halverstadt family reunion held on Saturday at the home of H. A. Halverstadt, south of Leetonia, Galen Greenisen was elected president; Miss Geneva Zimmerman, secretary; Miss Helen Esther Halverstadt, assistant secretary, and Lee Halverstadt, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Tittsler and family, Misses Frances and Margaret, Calvin and Billie, visited at the home of the former's brother, Warren C. Tittsler and family of Pulaski, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Groner and granddaughters, Dorothy and Frances-May Shontz, visited Sunday at the home of the former's brother, J. W. Groner and family, near Eagleton's Glen.

Mrs. Frederick Nilson and sons, Frederick and Bobby, of Rochester, N. Y., are visiting in the home of Mrs. Lydia Weaver, and the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Beilhart.

Miss Myrna Wilderson of Cleveland, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Wilderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hurn and son, Bobbie, of Youngstown, were Sunday guests in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Howell.

Mrs. James Smith of Cleveland, is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. H. D. Arnold. Mr. and Mrs. James Culp and son, Dale, and daughters, Emily and Mary Jane of Canton, visited Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bullard, Mr. and Mrs. John Worman, and Joseph Kirtland, visited in Cleveland on Saturday.

Spain is studying its moving picture industry, and may protect it.

Mrs. Sarah Freeman, Widow, Salineville's Oldest Citizen

Active in Home Duties Despite Her 94 Years—
Votes and is Keenly Interested in Politics.

SALINEVILLE, O., June 26.—This village, regarded in its earlier years as a place conducive to good health, seems to qualify to the viewpoint by reason of the fact that its oldest resident, Mrs. Sarah Freeman, of West Main street, lacks but six years of being a century old. Just a few days ago there passed away in the village another woman, Mrs. Anna Jones, who also had reached her ninety-fourth year.

Mrs. Freeman lives with her daughter, Mrs. James S. Strabley, who has herself the unusual distinction of having her mother with her almost continuously for 70 years.

Both are natives of Airdrie, Scotland, ten miles from Glasgow. Mrs. Strabley's father, Patrick Freeman, however, was born in County Down, Ireland. Her parents were married in Airdrie.

Husband Civil War Veteran.

Freeman was among those who came to America about the time of the Civil War. He enlisted in a Pennsylvania regiment and served in the army for three years. His health became impaired in the service and he went to live for an interim on an island near St. Augustine, Fla.

Mrs. Freeman and her daughter, now Mrs. Strabley, came to New York in 1867. After a visit with a relative there for a few months, Freeman lived for a while in the mountainous district of Pennsylvania. In 1870 they came to Salineville where for 59 years Mrs. Freeman has lived. Mrs. Strabley, at times following her marriage to James S. Strabley, long engaged in the coal industry, has been temporarily away from the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Strabley have been married 49 years.

Active in Home.

Despite her 94 years Mrs. Freeman is active about the home. Until she contracted an illness last winter which kept her indoors for more than a month, she had enjoyed good health all of her life.

Why One Child Has Too Much Hair and Another Is Bald

Science Explains at Last Phenomena Is Due To Glands.

An eight-month-old baby, whose hair grows so fast they have to cut it three times a week—and a five-year-old boy, who went completely bald in six hours. What connection, if any, is there between these two freakish occurrences? "None," you may answer. "They just happened."

But science, its knowledge of the glands and their functions richly augmented during the past year, points to the pituitary, that tiny, grape-shaped, bone-encased gland almost midway of the head, and says: "It is responsible."

Dr. W. T. Malone, of San Antonio, Tex., advances the theory that Ernest

Wise Jr., eight months old, has a pituitary that secretes abnormally. This infinitesimal organ is known to control the growth of human hair, of which Ernest has plenty. When he was born he had long, thick, curly locks, but this occasioned no surprise, for it is not uncommon for newly arrived infants to be hairy. Usually, however, this first growth disappears.

Not so with Ernest. He has been keeping a local barber busy ever since birth. But Henry Mates, five, of Washington, D. C., remains untroubled by tonsorial attentions. A few weeks ago a small, playful but well intentioned puppy ran up to Henry, leaped into the air and snapped at his nose. The fox terrier frightened Henry intensely. Six hours later the hair on Henry's head, his eyebrows and lashes had disappeared.

Physicians at Johns Hopkins vouchsafed no official explanation, but it is thought that he may be a victim of Simmons Disease, caused by a degenerative condition in the anterior lobe of the pituitary.

NEWELL NINE RALLIES TO STOP LEAGUE LEADERS, 4-2

Laughlin Ties For 2nd Place

Pollock and Digman Alternate on Slab.

JOE DICKEY'S Homer Laughlin both hands went into a tie with Chester Newell for second place in the Inter-City league first half race last night when they handed the league leading Katies a 4 to 2 set back.

Pollock and Digman, a southpaw and a right hander, alternated in the pitcher's box to outlast the visitors. Pollock twirled for four frames and then went to first base, Digman going to the hill top. In the final inning, Digman went back to the initial corner and Pollock finished on the slab.

And while the two of them gave up nine bingles, they kept them pretty well scattered except in the fourth when the strong Potters' combine knocked in their brace of markers.

Pollock, Digman and Densmore led the Laughlin offensive against Stoffel, getting three-fourths of the Newell bingles. Digman had a big night at the plate, slammimg out a pair of doubles. Densmore contributed some timely stick-work in driving in two of Laughlin's runs.

Coleman and Kinsey slapped out a pair of hits apiece for K. T. K. Kinsey driving in both of the visitors' tallies.

Bob Witherow turned in the star fielding play of the game, making a brilliant running catch of Ranaldi's line drive in the fourth.

Neither club counted for three innings but in the fourth the Katies broke the ice. Coleman singled to center and Schultz beat out an infield hit down the third base line. Bayley was hit by a pitched ball. That filled the bases. Kinsey then cracked out a single to right, scoring Coleman and Schultz. Bayley went out at third on McConnell's grounder. Watson forced McConnell at second and Watson retired the side when Andy O'Brosky forced Jack at second.

Laughlin staged a comeback in their half of the fourth which tied the score. Digman drove out a double to center. Bubin socked another two-bagger to the same spot, scoring Digman. Bubin took third on a passed ball. Densmore singled to center to score Bubin. Gregory fanned and Rahaldi ended the rally by flying to Witherow.

Digman and Pollock changed places at the beginning of the fifth. Digman going to the box and Pollock to first.

Laughlin took the lead in the fifth. Pollock started it with a single to right and advanced on Watson's sacrifice. Pollock scored on Mosser's single to left.

The West Virginians added a run for good measure in the sixth on Digman's double. Bubin's sacrifice and Densmore's single to left.

Pollock returned to the hilltop again in the seventh and Digman took his turn in the eighth and Digman to first.

A K. T. K. rally loomed as Andy O'Brosky, first up, singled to center, but he was caught at second, trying to stretch the hit into a double. Morris, batting for Stoffel, fanned, and Witherow skied to Watson.

Inter-City League

Inter-City league first half pennant race tightened up last night as Laughlin came from behind to beat the league leading Katies, 4 to 2, and go into a tie with Chester for second place.

And the whole thing today looks like a neck and neck finish to the wire.

The Katies today held but a two-game difference over the Wellsville club, in last place, and but one game over Chester and Laughlin, tied for second place.

The Katies' invasion of West Virginia this week, games being scheduled with Laughlin and Chester, started inauspiciously last night and it's hard to tell what will happen when the leaders clash with Chester Friday night.

The fact of the matter is the Chester News nine can go in there and the K. T. K. by winning Friday's game, in which case the standing would be seven wins and six defeats apiece.

In the meantime, however, Newell goes to Wellsville Thursday night and Wellsville may knock the Katies club out of a tie for second by winning. But if Laughlin cops, it will put them in second place, ousting Chester, and just a half-game back of the Katies.

Each club has three games to go to finish the half.

OTT BANGS HIS 21ST HOME RUN

Master Melvin Now Leads Sluggers of Both Leagues.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, June 26.—The home run crown may fall to Master Melvin Ott, the child prodigy from "Noo Awlins," and not to Buster Gehrig when Babe Ruth's war club is laid upon the shelf. The youthful outfields of the Giants, abducted from a school room by John McGraw a couple of years ago and carried as a substitute until he became big enough to wear long pants, is just beginning to get the home run range and nobody knows how many the boy will hit when he grows up.

The midget mauler smacked his 21st homer of the season against Brooklyn yesterday and now leads the sluggers of both leagues. He had been smacked by Gehrig.

Despite Marvelous Melvin's circuit clout, the Giants were unable to break the Brooklyn jinx and lost their fifth straight game to the Robins, 12 to 10. Five runs behind in the ninth, the battering Brooklyns tied the score and then won out in the tenth. Piechich's homer and Hendrick's triple clinched the two outbursts.

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom,"
Loveable Outlaw.
By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

Wade had an uncomfortable moment. He looked at his caller blankly, noticing the faint, amused flicker behind the shell-rimmed lenses.

If the man were a crank, as he appeared to be, he was a most unusual one.

"That's strange talk," the fat man remarked. "Suppose you explain yourself."

"Gladly. I'll go a little further, Mr. Wade. I have information to the effect that the Gray Phantom went direct from this establishment to a Chinese restaurant two doors north of here."

A look of alarm crossed Wade's clubby features. He drew his immense, well-groomed body erect in the chair and stared at his visitor. Suddenly Mr. Dawson laughed outright, and this time the huskiness was gone from his voice. Wade leaned forward, eyes popping, and gave a violent start.

"Holy mackerel!" he exclaimed. "The Gray Phantom!"

The Phantom Hits the Trail.

"Sorry I frightened you," said Vanardy in his natural voice, "but I wanted to put this new role of mine to the test. Since it deceived you, it is likely to deceive others."

"It's a scream," said Wade with conviction. "Some front! Where did you get it, boss?"

"Sing Lee helped me. A new set of tags, a beard and a pair of spectacles, plus a bit of reasonably competent acting, go a long way. You think I'll pass?"

"With bells on," declared Wade fervently.

"Any news?"

The fat man looked suddenly embarrassed. "Our friend Culligore came back the next morning and did some more nosing around. I think we've thrown him completely off the scent."

"Has Whipple been back?"

"No, he telephoned yesterday that the gang expects an installment of the ransom within two weeks. Blast his ugly mug! Say, wouldn't I like a chance at it with my lists?"

"Maybe your chance will come, Wade. What else?"

Wade shifted uncomfortably in his chair and adjusted his cuffs with ostentatious care. Vanardy gave him a searching glance.

"Out with it, Wade. I can see there's something on your mind. Heard from Miss Hardwick?"

The fat man swallowed hard. "No, but—well, you've got to know it sooner or later, anyhow. A runabout that has been identified as hers was found day before yesterday on a road just across the Connecticut State line."

Save for his fingers, which worked with a slow, twisting motion, Vanardy sat rigidly still. The bearded tips tightened; his eyes, behind the lenses, stabbed like dagger points.

"But that doesn't signify anything," Wade hastened to point out. "It isn't the first time Miss Hardwick has played queer stunts. She probably had a good reason for leaving the car in that place."

Vanardy's chest heaved with a long intake of breath. "Any how," said Wade soothingly, "we know she's safe as far as the kidnapers are concerned. If they meant to play her dirt, they would have done so at the start. They're mighty anxious not to upset you too much."

"They're wise enough to know that it takes a clear brain to scrape together ten million dollars. You can bank on it, boss, that they're keeping their dirty paws off Miss Hardwick."

Vanardy nodded slowly, as if impressed by the argument. His face relaxed a trifle. "Hope you are right, Wade. It is strange, though, that she should disappear like that after writing me a note asking me to hold up all my plans for the present. Looks as though she had a scheme of her own on foot. Wonder if—" His brows came up with an expression of great intentness. "Does she know about Whipple's arrangement regarding her father?"

"I gave her a hint that Whipple mustn't be monkeyed with, but I didn't think it was necessary to go into all the juicy details. Brace up, boss. I'll bet my last dollar that the girl is all right. Say, that front you've got on makes you look like an honorary pall-bearer. Going to a funeral?"

"No, to Tuckaway Camp."

"Tuckaway Camp?" screamed the fat man, almost tumbling out of his chair. "Gone crazy?"

"No, I'm as sane as I have been at any time in the last five weeks. I made up my mind last night."

"But—but—" The fat man choked. "But you're wanted for murder out there. Everybody thinks you bumped Craig off. There was a piece in the paper this morning where some smart reporter figured out that the Gray Phantom is the only man alive who can walk through solid walls, commit a murder, and walk right out again, without leaving a single clue as to how he did it. Better stay away from that joint, boss."

Vanardy smiled faintly. "Thanks for the advice, Wade, but I am going just the same. But don't worry. I shan't go as the Gray Phantom, but as Mr. Philip Dawson, amateur criminologist. Judging from the way you were taken in by my appearance, I think I shall be quite safe."

"But—but why?" stammered Wade, astagh.

"Because I want to try a new tack—a short cut."

Wade gave a disgusted grunt. "Because Miss Hardwick has set her foot down, more likely, and told you not to be naughty any more. Wasn't that what she said in the note she left for you?"

Vanardy evaded the question. I have several reasons for going, Wade, and one of them I've discovered in the last ten minutes, while talking with you. Doesn't it strike you as odd that Miss Hardwick's car was to about a million places besides Tuckaway Camp?"

Wade's eyes opened wide; then he shook his head. "It wasn't. It was found on a side road, about half a mile off the main road. And the main road, boss, runs to about a million places besides Tuckaway Camp."

Vanardy nodded. "I know, but something tells me there is a connection somewhere between the murder of Craig and the kidnapping of Mr. Hardwick. I can't get away from the idea that those two events have a common origin, and I am all the more certain of it since you told me this about Miss Hardwick's car. That's why I am going to Tuckaway Camp."

Wade sighed ponderously. "It will be a funeral! I'm sure of it. But if you've made up your mind to go, a team of oxen couldn't stop you. Let me give you just one tip, boss. Lay off Whipple."

Vanardy made a wry face. "Oh, I have no intention of running about at that estimable creature just yet. Some day I hope to settle my score with him, but for the present he has me at disadvantage. If he calls again, remember there is an ancient and honorable game known as stalling. Well—" He looked at his watch, gave a little catarrhal cough and got up. In an instant, as he extended his hand, he resumed the dignified and scholarly appearance that had characterized him when he entered.

"I am indebted to you for a very pleasant chat, Mr. Wade," he said pleasantly, in a tone that was utterly unlike The Gray Phantom's. "Good day, sir."

When he had gone, Wade sat gazing moodily at the door. "It will be a funeral," he lamented. "A funeral!"

Tuckaway Camp.

With a doleful and long-suffering air, William went to the front door in response to a ring. There had been a constant run of callers since the night of his master's tragic death, and in addition William had been busy superintending the arrangements for closing the house. He moved with a somberness and weariness that were in keeping with the darkened windows and the gloomy halls, and his manner when he faced the caller at the door was distinctly uninviting. With a scowl that triumphed over all his rigid training and all his years of impeccable servitude, he glanced at the card the visitor handed him.

"What do you wish, Mr. Dawson?"

"Is any member of Mr. Craig's family living here at present?"

"No, sir. There's nobody here except myself and two other servants. All the others have left."

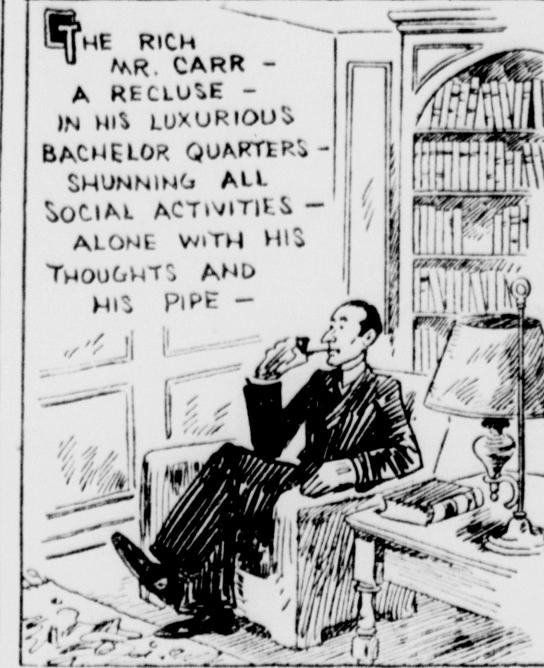

"I was under the impression that Mr. Craig had a niece."

"Miss Wayne left for the city Tuesday, sir, immediately after the funeral."

Hands Unseen

New Mystery Story of "Gray Phantom,"
Loveable Outlaw.
By Herman Landon

Copyright by Street and Smith Corporation.

Wade had an uncomfortable moment. He looked at his caller blankly, noticing the faint, amused flicker behind the shell-rimmed lenses.

If the man were a crank, as he appeared to be, he was a most unusual one.

"That's strange talk," the fat man remarked. "Suppose you explain yourself."

"I'll go a little further, Mr. Wade. I have information to the effect that the Gray Phantom went direct from this establishment to a Chinese restaurant two doors north of here."

A look of alarm crossed Wade's clubby features. He drew his immense, well-groomed body erect in the chair and stared at his visitor. Suddenly Mr. Dawson laughed outright, and this time the huskiness was gone from his voice. Wade leaned forward, eyes popping, and gave a violent start.

"Holy mackerel!" he exclaimed. "The Gray Phantom Hits the Trail.

"Sorry I frightened you," said Vanardy in his natural voice, "but I wanted to put this new role of mine to the test. Since it deceived you, it is likely to deceive others."

"It's a scream," said Wade with conviction. "Some front! Where did you get it, boss?"

"Sing Lee helped me. A new set of togs, a beard and a pair of spectacles, plus a bit of reasonably competent acting, go a long way. You think I'll pass?"

"With bells on," declared Wade fervently.

"Any news?"

The fat man looked suddenly embarrassed. "Our friend Culligore came back the next morning and did some more nosing around. I think we've thrown him completely off the scent."

"Has Whipple been back?"

"No, he telephoned yesterday that the gang expects an instalment of the ransom within two weeks. Blast his ugly mug! Say, wouldn't I like a chance at it with my fists?"

"Maybe your chance will come, Wade. What else?"

Wade shifted uncomfortably in his chair and adjusted his cuffs with ostentatious care. Vanardy gave him a searching glance.

"Out with it, Wade. I can see there's something on your mind. Heard from Miss Hardwick?"

The fat man swallowed hard. "No, but—well, you've got to know it sooner or later, anyhow. A runabout that has been identified as hers was found day before yesterday on a road just across the Connecticut State line."

Save for his fingers, which worked with a slow, twisting motion, Vanardy sat rigidly still. The bearded lips tightened; his eyes, behind the lenses, stabbed like daggers.

"But that doesn't signify anything," Wade hastened to point out. "It isn't the first time Miss Hardwick has played queer stunts. She probably had a good reason for leaving the car in that place."

Vanardy's chest heaved with a long intake of breath.

"Any how," said Wade soothingly, "we know she's safe as far as the kidnapers are concerned. If they meant to play her dirt, they would have done so at the start. They're mighty anxious not to upset you too much."

"They're wise enough to know that it takes a clear brain to scrape together ten million dollars. You can bank on it, boss, that they're keeping their dirty paws off Miss Hardwick."

Vanardy nodded slowly, as if impressed by the argument. His face relaxed a trifle. "Hope you are right, Wade. It is strange, though, that she should disappear like that after writing me a note asking me to hold up all my plans for the present. Looks as though she had a scheme of her own on foot. Wonder if—?" His brows came up with an expression of great intentness. "Does she know about Whipple's arrangement regarding her father?"

"I gave her a hint that Whipple mustn't be monkeyed with, but I didn't think it was necessary to go into all the juicy details. Brace up, boss. I'll bet my last dollar that the girl is all right. Say, that front you've got on makes you look like an honorary pall-bearer. Going to a funeral?"

"No, to Tuckaway Camp."

"Tuckaway Camp?" screamed the fat man, almost tumbling out of his chair. "Gone crazy?"

"No, I'm as sane as I have been at any time in the last five weeks. I made up my mind last night."

"But—but—" The fat man choked. "But you're wanted for murder out there. Everybody thinks you bumped Craig off. There was a piece in the paper this morning where some smart reporter figured out that the Gray Phantom is the only man alive who can walk through solid walls, commit a murder, and walk right out again, without leaving a single clue as to how he did it. Better stay away from that joint, boss."

Vanardy smiled faintly. "Thanks for the advice, Wade. I am going just the same. But don't worry. I shan't go as the Gray Phantom, but as Mr. Philip Dawson, amateur criminologist. Judging from the way you were taken in by my appearance, I think I shall be quite safe."

"But—but why?" stammered Wade, aghast.

"Because I want to try a new tack—a short cut."

Wade gave a disgusted grunt. "Because Miss Hardwick has set her foot down, more likely, and told you not to be naughty any more. Wasn't that what she said in the note she left for you?"

Vanardy evaded the question. I have several reasons for going, Wade, and one of them I've discovered in the last ten minutes, while talking with you. Doesn't it strike you as odd that Miss Hardwick's car was to about a million places besides Tuckaway Camp."

Wade's eyes opened wide; then he shook his head. "It wasn't. It was found on a side road, about half a mile off the main road. And the main road, boss, runs to about a million places besides Tuckaway Camp."

Vanardy nodded. "I know, but something tells me there is a connection somewhere between the murder of Craig and the kidnaping of Mr. Hardwick. I can't get away from the idea that those two vents have a common origin, and I am all the more certain of it since you told me this about Miss Hardwick's car. That's why I am going to Tuckaway Camp."

Wade sighed ponderously. "It will be a funeral! I'm sure of it. But if you've made up your mind to go, a team of oxen couldn't stop you. Let me give you just one tip, boss. Lay off Whipple."

Vanardy made a wry face. "Oh, I have no intention of running about that estimable creature just yet. Some day I hope to settle my score with him, but for the present he has me at a disadvantage. If he calls again, remember there is an ancient and honorable game known as stalling. Well—" He looked at his watch, gave a little catarrhal cough and got up. In an instant, as he extended his hand, he resumed the dignified and scholarly appearance that had characterized him when he entered.

"I am indebted to you for a very pleasant chat, Mr. Wade," he said pleasantly, in a tone that was utterly unlike The Gray Phantom's. "Good day, sir."

When he had gone, Wade sat gazing moodily at the door. "It will be a funeral," he lamented. "A funeral!"

MIDLAND, BRIDE OF F. J. KENNY

Pretty Wedding is Solemnized in Presentation Catholic Church by Rev. Father Breen.

MIDLAND, Pa., June 26.—A pretty wedding was solemnized at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the Presentation Catholic church by the Rev. Father J. A. Breen, when Miss Veronica Clare Beckwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Beckwell, Penn avenue and Seventh street, became the bride of Francis Joseph Kenny, son of Mrs. Phillip Butler, Flushing, N. Y.

The wedding march was played by Miss Louise H. Matthes, Chester Brogan and Mrs. Edward J. Beckwell were soloists.

Miss Beckwell was given in marriage by her father. Miss Anna B. Beckwell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Misses Cecilia Doyle and Lillian Ford were bridesmaids. Charles P. Beckwell, brother of the bride, was best man. Miss Alice Carland was flower girl, while Joseph Giamboni and Alyssus Lynch, East Liverpool, O., were ushers.

Wedding breakfast following the ceremony was served to 30 guests at the La Rosa Tea room, Industry Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Beckwell will leave tonight for Canada and eastern cities, and after August 1 will be at home at 3767 Sixty-fourth street, Woodside, Long Island, N. Y.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mrs. Phillip Butler and Marion Coleman, Flushing, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beckwell and son, Robert, and Miss Katherine Kilcoyne, Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Robert T. Beckwell, jr., entertained with the rehearsal party Monday night at her home in Eighth street. Covers were arranged for 40 guests.

Milan, Italy, claims that its motorcycle show this year was one of the most complete exhibitions of the kind ever held in the world.

Representatives Return From Convention in Louisville.

Report of the thirteenth annual convention of Lions International held at Louisville, Ky., last week will be given in connection with the weekly dinner meeting of the Lions' club in the grill room of the Travelers' hotel tonight. Dr. John A. Fraser, president, D. J. Savelsberg, third vice president, and H. D. Rist, secretary-treasurer, were delegates from the local club.

More than 400 new clubs were organized last year. The net increase in membership during the year amounted to approximately 10,000. Approximately 1,086 delegates and 922 alternates were registered at the convention, the number of visiting club members being estimated at 4,500.

The following officers were elected: President, Ray L. Riley, California; first vice president, Carl W. Hodges, New York city; second vice president, Julian C. Heyer, Fort Worth, Texas; third vice president, R. L. McKeever, Frederick, Md. Board of directors, J. R. Adams, Chicago; Rod Beddoe, Birmingham, Ala.; A. William Yungstrom, Elmira, N. Y.

Denver Gets 1930 Convention.

Denver, Colo., won out over Boston, Mass., and Toronto, Canada, for next year's convention. Salt Lake City switched its support to Denver, while Buffalo, New York and Detroit, Mich., failed to present their invitations.

Outstanding speakers included President Ben A. Ruffin; Dr. Preston Bailey, pastor of the People's church, Chicago, who spoke on "The Trend of the Times"; Frank Miles, editor of the Iowa Legionnaire, Des Moines, whose subject was "Lionism and World Peace"; A. G. Crane, president of the University of Wyoming; W. Harold Young, Toronto, Canada; Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the division of aeronautics, United States navy, and Morris Frank, Nashville, Tenn.

The Philadelphia club won the annual quartet contest. Others competing were Hartford, Conn., which was second; Pittsburgh, Pa., third; Altoona, Pa., fourth; Arkansas State School for Blind, fifth; Elkhart, Ind., sixth; Denver, Colo., seventh, and Hazard, Ky., eighth.

Bands, Glee Clubs on Job.

Music for the convention was in charge of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company's band, Louisville; Boys' Industrial School band, Birmingham, Ala.; Cub's club, Louisville, Ky.; Detroit Broadway Collegians; Louisville High School Girls' Glee club; Miss Margaret Doersley, Delhart, Texas; Oklahoma Lions' club band; Miss Esther Metz, Louisville prima donna; Miss Mary Stuart Edwards, soprano; male quartet from the Arkansas State School for the Blind and the Denver String orchestra.

Benjamin Wood Swofford, Kansas City, delivered his prize-winning oration on "The Constitution." This contest was sponsored by the Kansas City Star.

Social functions in connection with the convention were arranged by the convention committee which was headed by Past President Benjamin F. Jones, Newark, N. J.
